BY CHARSTON & NORMAN 127 THAMES STREET.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 5, 1862.

The party given to the Hon Daniel Webster at the spleadid man sion of Mr. Nelson Robinson, the dis tinguished Wall street Broker, seem to have been the most legant affair o the season. A large assemblage of gen flemen was present; and among them were fair representatives of all the Profersione, Merchante, Hankers, Mechanica and Manufactutera Mr. Webeter was in fine besith, and made blimel very agreeable to many who met him for the first time in private life. This evening the great meeting to nominate the Defender of the Constitution comes off at Tripler Hall, and though its will hold 5 or 8000 persons, it will not be half large enough. We are glad to see that the press of the city, is fast coming tout in support of Mr. Webster. 3816

LOVE FOR THE SCRIPTURES .- Mr Webster's attachment to the Bible has already been mentioned; indeed, he loves and he reads that priceless volume as it ought to be loved and read. He never makes a journey without carrying a copy with him ; and the writer would testify that he never listened to the story of the Savior, or heard one of the prophecies of leainh, when it sounded so superbly eloquent as when coming from his lips. These admitted to the intimacy of his conversation alone can tell of the eloquent fervor with which be speaks of the inspired writings; how, much light he can throw on a difficult text; how much beauty lend to expressions that would escape all but the eye of geniue; what new vigor he can give to the most earnest thought; and what elevation, even to sublimity.

It would be impossible for any one to listen half an hour to one of his dissertations on the Scriptures, and not believe in their inspiration, or his. And yet, while his private conversations and pullie productions attest how deeply he is imbued with the spirit of the Scriptures, neither the one nor the other ever contained the elightest irreverent allusion to any pareage in them, any thing in the way of illustration, analogy, or quotation, which would seem to question their eanctity. He has been scrupulously delicate in this regard, and therein difters widely from most of his cotemporaries in public life; as he reads and admires the Bible for its cloquence, so does

LIFE IN WASHINGTON.-The Washington correspondent of the Charleston Mercury, in a late letter, says:

The beau monde is in great excitement, as the season is quite a gay one. Why is there a great similarity between a wrong-headed, rabid temperance lecturer, and a "low drunkard?"

Because one is a cant-er and the other is a de-canter; one indulges in a bad spirit, the other in bad spirits; one pur suce a wrong course, and the other is in a bad way.

Mr. Lucius B. Cobden, a botel keeper in South Twelfth street, Philadelphia has, under the influence of the present temperance movement, become a consistent tetotaller, and resolves to sell no more of the " ardent." To show that he really is in carnett, he made a general creek and emash of his liquor ntensils Wednesday morning, on the pavement before his front door. Casks of Jamaica, apple-brandy, old rye and plebtan whiskey, bottles of prime cogmae, port, claret, and champaigne, decanters, demijohne, tumblers, and wine glasses, with everything clear case. His surelies are said to be Mesbreakable, were reduced to a fragmentary or anatomic condition.

Overage Spoiler.—The Taunton Copper Works have rendered the oystere taken at Bemernet unenleable. 346

43 Our townsman, O. H. Geffroy Esq., who kept the Walnut street House, in Cincinnati, for some time, has just taken affether ihrie hotel in that Lourishing city. We extract the following notices in regard to his and his house from three of the Cincinnati pago Gisson House New Oresing.— We see this House is about to be reopened by Mr. Geoffroy, formerly of the Walnut Street House. He has had ex-tensive alterations made throughout the House making it one of the best arranged in the City,

The Furniture is, we learn all new from the offices to the attic. The Chambers are mostly furnished with the new and beautiful atyle of enameled chamber furniture; the Bridal Chamber, in particular, is un beautiful a sett as we have ever seen; it is of white ground, i chastely flowers i, seurrounded by friezo work in gold; the bureau and dressing tollet with fine French plate

The Ladice' Parlor is as beautiful as a fine cultivated taste could make it every thing perfect of its kind, and all in harmony. This Furniture was made by Messes. Shaw & Rettig, Fourth street. We understand that Mr. Geof-froy called for them, and after being shown through the rooms by Mr. Shaw him, directing him to make as fine a Parlor Sett as could be produced; for chasteness of design and beauty of finish, we think we have never seen it elaborately carved, covered with velve moquette, of a rich and varied pattern admirably adapted for service. trust the proprietor of this House will meet with the success his liberality deserves. The House is most favorably lucated and conveniently arranged. Gazette.

Gisson House.—Calling at Massra Shaw & Rettig's this morning, we were shown the most magnificent set of Parlor lumiture, for the above, house, that we have ever seen. It is in the Louis XIV style, profusely carved and covered with the richest velvet moquette, making altogether, the most superbest of Furniture we have seen. It will remain on exhibition at the wavehouse unti Tuesday next, and should be seen by all lovers of the beautiful.

Alter Mr. Geoffroy, had, been shown through the salesroom by Shaw, the polite and attentive salesman of the firm, he left the order, to be gotten up necording to his own taste and judgment, so that he manufactured a parlor set, that would surpase in beauty and finish, anything in the city, which we think he has done. He has succeeded beyond the expectations of the purchaser amply repaid him for his commendable city in the Union that can boast of so many excellent and first class Hotels, as at of Cincinnati.

The Gibson House, which has under gone an entire renovation, and remodel ing, opens to day, under the proprieto-ship of Mr. O. H. Geffroy, a gentleman well known as a prince of landlords, and qualified in every sense of the word, by ong experience, to conduct with ability Gibson House will undoubtedly rank A

No. 1.

The house, since its late closing has undergone such thorough alterations, churacterized by such neatness, beauty and style of finish, that it is with difficulty the state old friends can recognize culty that its old friends can recognize Hoon the first floor are located the office, reading room and bar room, all large, spacious and comfortable aparts excellently and appropriately furnished.

Mr. Thos. E. Townsend, late of the Atlantic Hotel, Newport, R. I., is book-keeper of the establishment. Mr. E. L. Lewis, well known as "Bolly" of the Waverly House, is also attached to the business department. The bar is under the control of Mr. John Wade. The dining room is 110 feet long; and capable of seating 180 persons. The ceiling is beautifully and elaborately criamented with freeco work, and the window ensings and frames are of the solid heavy Gothic style of architecture. The house contains 140 rooms, of which 100 are bed rooms.

The parlors are furnished in the most magnificent and costly manner in the style of Louis XIV.

The furniture of the rooms is entirely new, and of the richest and niout ex quisite character. The tabler, which stands and bureaus of the whole house are marble topped.

The kitchen room and dry r bine every possible convenience, and for utility and practicability the ar-rangements of these departments are rangements of these appartments are unsurpassed. On the same floor are large steam boilers for furnishing the house from basement to garret with hot water, and for heating the culife establishment. There are also bath rooms, wash rooms and water closets in various parts of the house. In fine, everything that could possibly render a house convenient and confortable to the guest, has been bestowed upon the Gibson House.—We cordially wish it that success that its merits deserve .- Atias.

THE AMERICAN NAVY .- The United States Navy consists of 75 vessels:-11 ships of the-line, 14 frigates, 22 corvettes this Government, especially in regard and sloops, 4 brigs, 3 schooners, 10 to its foreign policy, drawn in question, steamers, and 5 store ships, besides the treatment and 5 store ships, besides the vessels employed in the survey of the coast. THE FORREST DIVORCE CASE.—An appeal to the General Term of the Supreme Court has been taken by the defendent in this sre. Bryant and Lawson The argument will probably be heard in May

The telegraph reports that the patriotism, and drinking deep atit, to Supreme Court of the United States has retireshed and invigorated by the , adjourned until April next:

Wikory's "Bold Strond fol & Wife." The public are aware of the stair at Genoa, in which Mr. Henry Wiloff, of New York, recently figured. The per-ticulars are given at great signal by Mr. Weed, of the Alberry Lucies, in a letter to that paper, which are thus condensed in the Express;

"Mr. Wikoff (himself a native Philadelphian) it would seem, finding a former Philadelphia acquaintance a young ludy by the name of Gamble, ly a curious -- combination - of - circumstances an heirers, made proposals of mariage to her, which she relusing, he presed with most annoying / perseverance, following her all over the continent, bribing her courier, and laying many incentous traps to obtain, interviews with her, against her will. Once, on the Lake of Geneva she admits to Mr. Weed the promised to marry Wikoff, if, he would let go her hand, in order not to compro mise her with some speciators of the scene.-Again, at Genoa; (she says) he attempted force to induce her to be married on the spot, endeavored to use chloroform to reduce her to submission, but succeeded only in obtaining from her a written promise of marriage, secured by the forfeiture of half her for-tune. The next day, she went to the police, had her pertinacious lover arrested, and he was in prison at the date of Mr. Weed's letter, awaiting his trial. The writer says he believed Miss Gambie's story a truthful relation; but adds, that Wikoff has his own version, and that 'he (Wikoff,) insists that Miss G. loved him quite devotedly, but had been influenced by others to wrong both her-self and him. For the purpose of giving the affair the character of a civil offence, he drew up and swore to a statement in which, among other things, he says, that their last week in London was one of such endearment and dalliance as their betrotnal rendered proper and natural, Thie, Miss Guiterlydenies, She did not, she says, during that time, see Mr-W. alone; and finally denied herself to him, leaving London, at the intended, without his knowledge, though the sequel proved that he had pertect knowledge of all her movements, through a faithless courier." .

The following private letter of General Hamilton, expressing his sentiments in regard to the sad fate of Major Andre, will doubtless be new, and interesting to most of our readers, as it is to ourselves. We do not know that it has before We do not know that it has before appeared in print. [Washington Union.

Mr. Hamilton to Miss Schuyler. TAPPAN, Oct. 2, 1780, headquarters, of the Army.

Poor Andre suffers to day. Everything that is amiable in virtue, in fortitude, in delicate sentiment and acnaru lieartem poncy calle for a sacrifice. He must die ... I send you my account of Arnold's affair: and, to justify myself to your sentiments I must inform you that I urged a compliance with Andre's request to be shot; and I do not think it would have had any ill effect. But some people are only sensible to motive of policy, and sometimes from a narrow disposition, mistake its 12.5 2 (1993)

When Andre's sale comes to be told, and present resentment is over, the re-fusing him the privilege of choosing the manner of his death will be branded with

It was proposed to me to suggest to him the idea of an exchange for Arnold; but I knew it should have forteited his esteem by doing it, and therefore de-clined it. As a may of honor, he could not but reject it, and I would not for the world have proposed to him a thing which; must have placed me in the unamiable light of supposing him capable of meanness or of not feeling myself the impropriety of the measure. I confess to you I had the weakness to value the esteem of a dying man, because I iteverenced his merit.

The following letter is to appear from Henry Clay in the report of the doings of the Congressional Banquet, given in honor of the Birth-day Washington: Washington, Feb 21, 1852.

GENTLEMEN :- I have the pleasure to acknowledge the receipt of your invita-tion to the Congressional Hanquet in honor of the birth day of Washington, to be served at Willard's Hotel, this day. Nothing would be more gratifying to me than to be able to assist on that distinguished occasion; but I regret to eay, that the leebie state of my health will not allow me that satisfaction.

I ardently hope that the birth-day of that great man may continue to be cele-brated whilst time endures. But there seems to me to be a particular fitness of giving at the present time extraordinary eclat to the commemoration of the We have seen great principles laid down by him for the administration of uparallelled greatness.

We have seen serious attempts to induce the United. States to depart from his great principles of prace and neutrality of equities all entertains. trality, of avoiding all entangling allian-ces with foreign pawers, and of confu-ing ourselves to the grawth, improvement and prosperity, of our new country, and, in place of them, to plange ourselves, by perilous proceedings and incompilled degrees. insensible degrees, in the wars of Europe. Under such circumstances, i is right and proper, and useful, to repair to the great fountain of Washington's
